

Mountainside Institute Presents:

WHAT THE HECK IS A BLOWER DOOR?

With rising energy costs and all the recent buzz about green building, people are asking their builders to build energy efficient homes. The EPA's ENERGY STAR program offers a performance-based method for building tighter homes and may qualify homeowners for a $1,000 rebate from their electric utility.

WHEN: 10:00 am - 11:30 am

Monday, April 28th

WHERE: Mountainside Village

Mountainside Institute will be hosting an informational session about building with ENERGY STAR. The event will feature a demonstration of a blower door test on a new home in Mountainside Village, a short walk-through of an ENERGY STAR home with third-party certifier, Tad Duby, and a "straight-talk" question and answer period with a few local builders who have built ENERGY STAR homes.

Light refreshments will be served.

For more info, contact: Dahvi Wilson, 787-6873